Remember - our shared vision

Carers of people with dementia:

- have recognition of their unique experience - 'given the character of the illness, people with dementia deserve and need special consideration... that meet their and their caregivers needs' (World Alzheimer Report 2013 Journey of Caring)
- are recognised as essential partners in care - valuing their knowledge and the support they provide to enable the person with dementia to live well
- have access to expertise in dementia care for personalised information, advice, support and co-ordination of care for the person with dementia
- have assessments and support to identify the on-going and changing needs to maintain their own health and well-being
- have confidence that they are able to access good quality care, support and respite services that are flexible, culturally appropriate, timely and provided by skilled staff for both the carer and the person for whom they care
